Entering the Hobbit House

Just like in the fantasy film, the first thing you will notice about the Hobbit Houses is that they seamlessly blend with the stunning nature of the property. The unique getaways are nestled into hillside boulders and are surrounded by a lush and welcoming landscape.

Natural wood and stone are heavily incorporated into the architecture, with tree trunks being an integral part of the design. Once youâ??re through the intricate and iconic round door, youâ??ll feel completely transported into Tolkienâ??s â?•Middle-earthâ?• realm. Inside, you will find an intimate interior with stone floors, artfully stacked stones walls, authentic whiskey barrels, and a table artfully set for you and your guests to enjoy the meal to come.

The flickering candles and wood-burning fireplace offer just enough light in the evening to take in the charming decorative details and enjoy the craftsmanship of the hobbit hole that you will never forget. While overhead skylights allow sunbeams to shine through for a bright and cozy daytime dining experience.
