

Luxury Townhome v. Apartment: A Mismatch in the Making

Description

A luxury townhome at The Preserve Sporting Club & Residences provides the rustic elegance and lavish amenities desired by today's modern families.

Assume, for the sake of this argument, that a prospective buyer is blessed with the means to purchase the luxury townhome or apartment of his/her dreams. Further assume that the townhome under consideration is a Green Cottage at The Preserve Sporting Club & Residences in Richmond, RI.

Lavish amenities at a Luxury Townhome at The Preserve

The buyer's list of must-have amenities are in large measure met by both contenders. The Preserve townhome has been chosen from two-and three-level, three or four bedroom homes ranging from 1,600 to 2,900 square feet. It faces a modern village green, in a "neighborhood" inspired by hundreds of years of New England tradition. This home's rustic elegance offers custom cabinetry, a romance-inducing fireplace, huge windows framing magnificent views, top-tier appliances, spa-like bathrooms, a private study, balconies, and expansive front porches. There are vaulted ceilings and two master bedroom suites, plus an integrated garage. Options include a private in-home elevator servicing all levels, a finished 606 sqft lower level, and a finished 300 sqft loft providing additional elegant living space.

As is their wont, the outdoors insistently beckons. At which point the buyer's journey from refined luxury to resplendent nature becomes a simple matter of opening the townhome's front door. Welcome to The Preserve Sporting Club & Residences, the Northeast's most amenity-rich club and community, where 3,500 acres of unspoiled nature and refined luxury find common ground.

A townhome – especially a Preserve Sporting Club & Residences townhome – provides expansiveness and privacy that no apartment similarly priced can match. There is a timeless quality to its design, one that marries tradition and innovation to breathtaking results.

And we haven't begun to list the Preserve's unrivaled array of amenities to stimulate the mind, challenge the body, and recharge the soul.
